

Global Risk Management (RISK 6509/4509) (with travel to Lloyds of London) Maymester 2016

Sponsored by Surplus Lines Association of Colorado

The Risk Management and Insurance (RMI) Program presents

This is a unique international course of intensive study for undergraduate and graduate business and risk management students, a distinctive immersion in the field of Global Risk Management and Insurance. The course is designed to study how risk is transferred globally. In the first two weeks of class in Denver, there will be a series of class lectures, presentations and discussions. The class will then travel to London, which is the home to many of the world's largest insurers and reinsurers. While in London for one week, students will visit and have presentations from insurance brokers, companies, Lloyds of London, and reinsurers.

RISK 6509/4509 COURSE OBJECTIVES

The over-riding design of the course is to follow the insurance transaction from main street U.S.A. through the standard markets, surplus lines markets, and reinsurance markets.

- This class will incorporate dynamic guest speakers both locally and in London.
- Students will see first-hand how risk is transferred globally.
- Students will interact with insurance professionals who transact business throughout the world.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Become aware of global insurance issues
- Develop confidence and ability to interact with high-level executives
- Comprehend and articulate the scope of global risk insurance
- Prepare to step into a risk manager's role

Cost: $1,200

Includes airfare, shared accommodation, ground transportation & international health insurance.

Does not include tuition and fees.

Prerequisites:

Preferred: RMI declared major /specialization or completion of one RMI course or attendance at one Shadow Day with the RMI program

Credits:

3 CU Denver graduate/undergraduate credits

The course may substitute:

General Elective – Finance / RMI Major

International Elective – MBA, RMI Major

"1" Category of electives for all specializations of MS

-Finance and Risk Management

-See advisor for details

Program Dates:

May 16 – 27, 2016 (Denver)

May 29 – June 5, 2016 (London)

Application Deadline:

February 5, 2016. Space is limited.

Program Faculty:

Dave Wood, dave.wood@ucdenver.edu

Expression of Interest:

Please indicate interest to
Lori.Genuchi@ucdenver.edu

Risk Management
and Insurance (RMI) Program

BUSINESS SCHOOL

UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO DENVER